ANNOUNCEMENT.

On the 16th day of November, 1876, and in the city of Raleigh, the undersigned will commence the publication of THE OBSERVER, a daily and weekly Democratic newspaper.

Of long experience in their profession as editors, respectively of the Fayetteville Observer and the Wilmington Journal, they do not affect to doubt the soundness of the general judgment which assigns them ability, to furnish a newspaper suited to the needs and adapted to the tastes of the people of North Carolina. Differing in politics in the olden time, there was never a difference between the Observer and the Journal in zeal for the interests and honor of North Carolina. To promote the one, and to uphold and add to the other will be the object of the Observer now.

Of very decided opinions on questions of public interest, and apt to give those opinions plain expression, they deem it the first duty of a newspaper to furnish its readers with the information of their opinions—to publish all 'the news;' and their purpose is to make The Observer now, as of old, a truthful, accurate, condensed history of the times in which we live. It was thus that 'the old Observer' won its hold upon the people of North Carolina, enjoying the affection of its party friends, receiving the respect and confidence of its bitterest political foes, and commanding in its comparatively isolated location a circulation larger than has ever been attained by any other North Carolina newspaper, and it is thus, by like dignity, and fairness that the editors of The Observer, transferred to the State Capital, hope it will deserve, and soon equal, and then surpass, its former circulation and prosperity.

It will be their high aim to deserve the public confidence by earnest efforts to promote the public welfare, first and foremost of North Carolina, next of all the Southern States, and finally, and through these, of the whole Union. They think that this can only be effected by the prevalence of Democratic principles and the dismissal of the Radical party from the places and power which they have so greatly abused, and under whose baleful rule the South has been outraged and the whole country has been impoverished and disgraced.

MR. BAILEY'S CARD.

He Corroborates the Main Points—It was in Fayetteville—After Tea—That Coil of Rope—Who killed Stephens?

In the Daily News of the 30th ult; an article was published which purports to give the substance of a statement made by me to certain gentlemen at Cameron on the night of the 29th. As a matter of justice to myself and all the parties concerned it becomes necessary for me to state the following facts:

On my way to the Baptist State Convention in Fayetteville, I was introduced to ex-Gov. Holden. During the session of the Convention I was invited to dine with him and accepted the invitation. I spent the afternoon with him, returning to the Baptist church after tea. Our intercourse was free and agreeable. He gave me an account of his religious experience and of his political troubles. He stated to me that the plan of the "Kirk war" originated with the Executive Committee of the Republican party at Washington, in the interest of the party; that he was opposed to it, but was allowed no discretion in the matter; that it was decided by that committee to inaugurate and prosecute the campaign as he did it; that if he did not carry out the wishes of the party he and the State were to be crushed, and that if he was successful in the execution of their plans he would probably receive a Cabinet appointment, the Secretaryship of the Interior.

In reference to the death of Stephens I understood from him that the Republicans had much to do with that crime; that the prosecution of those who were charged with it was discontinued because testimony was either elicited or likely to be elicited which would implicate or criminate prominent members of the Republican party; that these fears were awakened in part by the discovery of the coil from which the rope was cut which was found on the neck of the murdered man.

The statements of Governor Holden left on me the clear and distinct impression that he had been the unwilling instrument for the accomplishment of the purposes of his party and that he did not merit the odium which attached to his name all over the State.

During the session of the late constitutional convention I called on Governor Holden in his office at his own request. In a very pleasant interview reference was made to the removal of political disabilities by congress and also to the removal of his own disabilities by the convention then in session. So favorably was I impressed with statements made by him that I called on Rev. J. N. Stallings, of Duplin, and a few other members, and requested them to use their influence to have Governor Holden's disabilities removed.

I stated these facts or some of them in the conversation referred to in the News as mentioned above. I have also given them in other parts of the state, where Gov. Holden happened to be the subject of conversation. It was done in the free and easy style of social intercourse, and though I stated nothing which was not true, I did not expect to see it in the newspapers or in print.

In any statement which I may have made concerning Judge Bond or the hanging of Judge Kerr, I gave or meant to give my own opinions, based on information received from other sources; not from anything said to me by Gov. Holden. So far as I can recollect he has never spoken to me in reference to either of those gentlemen.

I have made this statement in the interest of truth and not of any political party; also as a matter of justice to myself and all the persons mentioned in the News of the 30th.

C. T. BAILEY.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE KIRK WAR.

The republican party has all along stood by the Holden-Kirk war, and to day stands thoroughly and completely committed to the fullest endorsement of that movement against the liberties of the peaceful citizens of North Carolina.

As the Holden-Kirk war is about to receive new significance in the light of some recent revelations it may not be inappropriate to quote from the resolutions of the republican state convention, April 17th 1872 as follows:

Resolved, That W. W. Holden deserves from the republican party of North Carolina, the kindest affection and deepest gratitude for his manful and hard defence of them in 1869-70 from the assaults of the kuklux democracy; for his universal and consistent defence of the poor and humble when he was governor, and his faithful and ceaseless advocacy of republican principles when he was with us, and now that he is a martyr in exile at Washington.

Resolved, That we endorse him in the past and shall ever cherish our love for him in the future, and we have confident hope and trust that the time is not far distant when he shall return to his native state again to battle for the Union, for the equality before the law and for the progressive principles of republicanism.

OCTOBER ELECTIONS.

The indications are that the Democrats will sweep Ohio and Indiana by overwhelming majorities. At first it was supposed that in consequence of the incorruptible moral character of Gov. Hayes, he would successfully override all opposition to the party of whose views he is the recognized exponent, but every facility having been offered him to rebuke the extravagance and corruption of the present administration, we are not aware that in one solitary instance, he has yet lifted up his voice in favor of reform. His conduct affords a striking contrast with the course of Gov. Tilden, whose efforts have been successfully exerted on every occasion, for the conviction of official thieves. Reliable reports lately received from the West all warrant the belief that the re-action which has lately taken place there, unmistakably points to the election of the Democratic ticket. The people of the West, where so much bone, sinew, muscle, and honesty, are represented are disgusted with the dishonesty which now prevails in high places of civic trust, and we are satisfied that Ohio and Indiana will so express themselves in October.—Ral. Sentinel.

WHAT A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS HAS DONE.

A careful statement, prepared by Mr. Springer, of Illinois, gives the estimates for each appropriation bill, the amounts appropriated by the House for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1877, the reductions made in each bill below the estimates and the reductions made by the House below the amounts appropriated for the year ending June 30, 1876.

The total reductions below the estimates of the Departments are $64,382,116.90. The total reductions of appropriations made below the last fiscal year are $38,516,312.02.

The last total may be reduced three or four millions by the conference reports, but the grand total of actual saving to the Treasury by the Democratic House will reach fully $35,000,000, while the amount appropriated is $60,000,000 less than was asked for by the Republican administration.

DO YOU?

The Ansonian puts the pertinent queries:

Do you want to reduce your taxes?
Vote for the amendments.

Do you want seperate schools for the white and colored children in our State?
Vote for the amendments.

Do you want to save $22,500 per annum to the State?
Vote for the amendments reducing the number of Judges.

Would you have saved from $50,000 to $100,000 per annum in the Legislative expenses?
Vote for the Amendment restricting the session to sixty days and the per diem of the members to four dollars.

If you want good, economical government in N. C, vote for all the Amendments.

THE AMENDMENTS.

[Fayetteville Gazette.]

The conservatives against the protest of the radicals cut down the fees of officers, court costs and all that, and by the amendments have provided that the legislature shall meet only every other year. This was a great saving. It is now proposed to require that the penitentiary convicts shall not be supported in idleness, but shall work on our public roads. It is also proposed to fix the per diem so that no legislature shall cost more for its per diem than $41,000. This will be a great saving. The radical legislature for two years cost $430,000—about ten times as much.

If the Amendments are adopted the running expenses of the state government will be for every two years about as follows:

Legislature—mileage and per diem,	$ 50,000
Printing,	12,000
Contingencies'	40,000
Other ordinary expenses,	180,000
	$282,000
Or for one year,	141,000

The radicals oppose all this; they oppose the amendments; they oppose economy; they want to get back into power and do like they did when they spent $981,000 in two years. That is just four times as much as is necessary.

A minister asked a boy what o'clock it was. 'About twelve sir,'' was the reply. 'Well,' quoth the minister, 'I thought it had been more.' 'It's never any more here,' said the boy; 'it just begins at one again.'

MORE ABOUT THAT LETTER.

Why U. S. Grant did not become an Officer in the Confederate Army.

From the Chicago Times.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—Jeff. Chandler, heretofore one of the leading Republicans of this State, has been called upon by the Republicans of the Third District to accept the nomination for Congress. He has written a letter, which will be published to-morrow, in which he declines to be a candidate, and says: 'I am not in sympathy with the Cincinnati platform, and cannot support its nominees.'

Chandler is from Michigan, and is a relative of the notorious Zach. He is a graduate of Michigan University, and served with the Michigan troops during the late war, rising from the ranks to be Colonel of his regiment. He settled in Missouri after the war, and up to this time has been a leading man in the Republican party. He was on the ticket as Attorney General, which Gen John B. Henderson headed four years ago. The district in which he is asked to run is that in which R. G. Frost is the Democratic candidate. Frost is the son of Gen. D. M. Frost, who commanded the State troops here at the out-break of the war, and was captured at Camp Jackson by Blair and Lyon at the head of the home guards, on the ground that Frost intended to take the troops into the Confederate service.

Frost now has the original letter written to himself and Gen. Sterling Price when the Missouri troops were organizing, before the attack on Fort Sumter, from Ulysses S. Grant, then at Galena, asking for a commission in the force going south, and offering to espouse the Southern cause. Gen. Frost declines to make public the letter, claiming that it would not be honorable. If, however, an attack is made upon young Frost by reason of his father's Confederate record, the letter will be produced. The existence of this letter is an indisputable fact, and neither the President nor his friends dare deny it.

Grant's personal habits during his residence with the Dents had been so bad that his offer was not accepted, and about five months afterwards he went to Springfield and offered his services to Yates for the Federal army.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The New York Herald makes the following amende:

'We spoke severely the other day of Ex-Gov. Vance, of North Carolina, in the belief that he had really uttered some brutal words which were imputed to him local newspapers, and we were led to trust in these reports by some passages in Judge Settle's reply to Mr. Vance which seemed to refer to the language imputed to Mr. Vance. A dispatch, which we print elsewhere this morning, shows on the the testimony of Judge Settle, Mr. Vance's opponent, that Mr. Vance did not use the language imputed to him, but that he quoted from one of the 'bloody-shirt' speeches of Mr Ingersoll, a Republican speaker who is doing a good deal to make sensible men vote the Democratic ticket all over the country. Mr. Vance and Mr. Settle are stumping North Carolina together. They are rival candidates for the Governorship. Judge Settle heard and replied to Mr. Vance's speech, and he at once, on being asked if the report was correct, said it was not. That is sufficient, and the best evidence. Mr. Vance did not say what was imputed to him, and of course our remarks had no cause, and fall to the ground."

FORMATION OF CHARACTER.

Have you ever watched the icicle as it formed? Have you noticed how it froze, one drop at a time, until it was a foot long or more? If the water was clear, the icicle remained clear, and sparkled brightly in the sun; but if the water was only slightly muddy, the icicle looked foul, and its beauty was spoiled. Just so our characters are formed. One little thought or feeling at a time adds its influence. If each thought be pure and right the soul will be lonely, and will sparkle with happiness; but if impure and wrong, there will be deformity and wretchedness.

A RACE ON CRUTCHES.

A foot race on crutches took place yesterday at Bishop's trotting course, Herring Run, between Thomas Lambert and John Siegel. Both men were lame and used crutches. The stakes, $50 a side, were deposited with H. Bewig. The race extended four miles without any stoppages, and a start was made punctually at 4:16 P. M; both men getting off at a brisk gait. The time was as follows: First mile, Lambert 15 minutes, Siegel 14 minutes 30 seconds; second mile, Lambert 15 minutes 30 seconds, Siegel 14 minutes 45 seconds; fourth mile, Lambert 14 minutes 45 seconds, Siegel 13 mintes 45 seconds. Total, Lambert 60 minutes, Siegel 67 minutes 15 seconds.—Baltimore Gazette 29th.

CURIOUS ADVERTISEMENTS

Below will be found some of the oddities, in advertising:

'Two young women want washing.'

'Teeth extracted with great pains.'

'Babies take and finished in ten minutes by a country photographer.'

'Wood and coal split.'

The next appeared in a London paper under the head of "For Sale:' 'Pianoforte—cottage, seven octaves—the property of a lady leaving England in a remarkably elegant case on beautifully carved supports.'

And what does this mean? 'Business Chance—To be disposed of—A genuine fried fish business at the West End.' Does the genuineness apply to the fish, the business, or to the way in which they are fried?

And one's mind gets hopelessly dazed over the advertisement offering a reward for 'A large Spanish blue gentleman's cloak lost in the neighborhood of the market.'

There are others deliciously inconsequent, like the advertisement of a runaway, which furnished this valuable hint for identification: 'Age not precisely known, but looks older than he is.'

Or the notice a shoemaker put on his door: 'Shall be back in ten days from the time you see this spingle.'

Some, however, leave no loophole for doubt: 'Babies after having taken one bottle of my soothing syrup will never cry any more.'

And an editor puffing air tight coffins, said: 'No person having once tried one of these air tight coffins will ever use any other.

Nessus' shirt was a bloody shirt and proved the death of Hercules. Turn over the pages of your heathen mythology—not more heathen than the record of the Presidential canvass—and when found stick a pin! You will discover there several suggestive analogies."

THE GREAT CRIME.—RETRIBUTION AHEAD.

THE NEMESIS OF THE PARTY.

On the 21st day of May 1870, John W. Stephens, State Senator from Caswell was found dead in one of the rooms of the Court House at Yanceyville. A fearful crime had been committed. A victim had been taken off with a secrecy, a swiftness and a certainty which might have characterized the mandates of the Holy Vehm. The victim was a man of notoriety in the political world, and all attendant circumstances pointed to his slaying as a political deed.

Both parties at once arose in crimination—the Democrats charging the crime upon their opponents as committed for political effect—the Republicans furiously retorting upon the Democrats, designating the murder as a part of that hellish system of violence which made the interposition of the Federal Government necessary to preserve peace and protect the lives of helpless and inoffensive citizens. The county was maddened with excitement; arrests were made with indiscriminate haste; trials were hurried on with insane rapidity; justice seemed about to be prejudged and innocent men sacrificed to the rage of the hour, when—all at once, proceedings were stopped, and, for six long years the terrible subject was left to the workings of vague conjecture.

The veil which concealed the mystery seems to have been lifted at last, and if the actual perpetrators are not disclosed, at least the authority by which the horrible crime was committed is established. For, take the revelations of the Rev. C. T Bailey, made without interest, and bearing internal evidence of reliability, as true, without regarding the denials of Ex-Governor Holden, who has the strongest motives for denial. We refer our readers to the card of Mr. Bailey on the first page. Here, we will only notice one paragraph: "In reference to the death of Stephens, I understood from him that the Republicans had much to do with that crime? If they had anything to do with it, they had all to do with it." This was a crime not capable of divisibility, for it was not possible that two hostile parties should combine to destroy one man, and do it with a secrecy that has eluded all scrutiny. Confederation would sooner or later have ended in betrayal. And so the charge stands fixed under Mr. Bailey's statement, upon the Republican party.

And for what? Most horrible! That out of secret murder, but in a most conspicuous place, upon a notorious if not conspicuous member of the party, the Republican party might profit here and elsewhere by the furious clamor excited by the terrible deed, and cement that power which it had already gained over our prostrate liberties.

Assassination, deliberate and under premeditation, is a common concomitant of the politics of the Eastern despotisms. It is not unknown to those of Latin races. But Anglo Saxons go straight to their mark with the ballot or the bullet in open fight with chances fair for both sides. It is left to the Republicans to have engrafted upon Anglo-Saxon politics the cowardly efficiency of Eastern or Latin policy. It will not do to cite the example of the fanatic Booth as an instance that Democratic expediency may use the same means. But even the murder of Lincoln was committed in a crowd where the chances of escape were a hundred to one against the assassin.

But the gravity of the crime did not end—was not to end—with the death of one man. It was to be the spark that was to explode the magazine of a nation's wrath, and bring down the fury of governmental rage upon the defenceless heads of a people laid bare to all the indignities and licentiousness of an infuriate soldiery.

And this is the gravity of the case,—that a party can be found on this continent, in this Republic founded by the chivalrous valor of honorable men, which must look to its perpetuity through blood—not blood spilled on the battle field, but blood shed by assassination, or by judicial murder, or riots incite with wanton purpose to put race against race, and thus through murder, and injustice and intestine strife, that party may find its occasion to deepen the foundations of its hold, and go on to riot in the spoils of public office, and revel in the opulence of the public revenue.

This is the party, now in the full flush of its crimes, impenitent, unpurified—rather deepened in its corruptions, gorged yet greedy for more, rapacious, unscrupulous and bloodthirsty, that confronts the country and presses on its audacious lines for further conquests.

Democrats of North Carolina, will you not rouse yourselves with frenzied energy, now that you learn authentically the character of the enemy you have to deal with in your own State, to overwhelm it, and save your State and your country from a dreadful doom? Republicans of North Carolina, will you not join with us, and come out from a party which is ready to sacrifice its own members to make capital for a campaign? People of North Carolina, once so honest and manly in your political lives, will you not all unite to purge your State of its infamy, and drive out those rulers who make traffic of your blood, that their little span of power might be lengthened, and their greed of avarice be fully satisfied?

The fear that the clause of the amendments which authorizes the creation of inferior courts will necessarily lead to the general restoration of the old county Court system, and the abolition of the present one is groundless. The system would be one of choice. If any counties prefer the present one providing for the elections of Commissioners, Magistrates &c. by the people, their preferences would still be regarded. It is only to provide a remedy for intolerable grievances such as under which many of the eastern counties labor. The enactment of laws affecting the present system would be upon the same principles that govern general stock or fence laws, of which those who chose to avail themselves might to do.

"In reference to the death of Stephens I understood from him that the Republicans had much to do with the crime.

Mr. Bailey's Card.

Of course leading Republicans are meant. What of Judge Settle? We all remember when Mr. Wiley was before the Justices of the Supreme Court at Raleigh, and the majority of them declared the evidence against him insufficient. Settle, the now Republican candidate for Governor one of the Court, came down from the bench and approaching Mr. Wiley, accosted him roughly, shook his fist in his face, and denounced him as the murderer.

"The Republicans had much to do with the crime." This much Holden knows. Settle was one of those Republicans. What are the people to think of the man who aspires to rule them who would thus seek to brand an innocent man with a crime of which his accuser knew him to be innocent, and thus bring him to the gallows?

Another case of a Dutch assault upon and capture of Holland. Colorado has gone Republican by about 2500 majority. When we consider that this territory was admitted as a State knowingly and avowedly on the ground that it would be Republican and swell the electoral vote for the candidate of that party, there is not much left to brag of.

See later news.

Yellow fever still rages horribly in Savannah and Brunswick. In the latter, with a population of about 2500, 90 per cent have been attacked, and the mortality has been fearful.

"The Statements of Gov. Holden left on me the clear and distinct impression that he had been the unwilling instrument for the accomplishment of the purposes of his party."—Mr. Bailey's Card.

Is Mr. Holden relieved of responsibility because he 'was the unwilling instrument?' He performed what was required of him, though 'unwillingly,' but his unwillingness was brightened with the hope of office and reward, and for that he sunk his 'unwillingness,' and connived at a peaceful murder, and plunged his State into the horrors of civil war. Was there any compulsion except that of the basest motives, to urge him to these crimes? He comes out of his apology in a worse light than before.

Georgia has elected her Democratic Governor by 80,000 majority.

CAPT. DAVIS AND COL. YOUNG.

These gentlemen spoke here on Saturday according to appointment to a full audience. As we have not room to present the discussion in this issue, and as we design to do so in our next, we will content ourselves for the present with merely noting the characteristics of the speeches and commenting upon their features.

Col. Young, who immediately followed the Hon. George Davis commended himself at once to his audience by the fidelity with which he stuck to his flag, nailed to the mast head at the beginning of the campaign. To "lie like H—l, and stick to it," still floats defiantly to the breeze. If Col Young told one political truth we cannot recal it. In all unblushing effrontery, his speech of Saturday was peerless. He addressed his hearers as if all the avenues of information had been hermetically sealed to them. He boldly made charges which he well knew had been withdrawn even by their authors. He made assertions which he knew had been refuted. He made statements which he knew had been contradicted. He made claims which he knew current history falsified at every step.

Yet with brazen face and fluent tongue he poured out in unbroken strain a torrent from that magazine of falsehood which has found an appropriate reservoir in that concretion of all mendacity, the Raleigh Constitution.

It were a vain appeal to his sense of truth, or of fairness, or an idle suggestion to his susceptibility to the emotions of shame if he were reminded that what he was saying could not for a moment stand the test of examination. He had brought his wares to a market where he knew pinchback passed for gold. He had an audience before him of his own followers trained to hear, to believe, and to obey. What though the intelligent portion of that audience laughed to scorn the reckless energy of his audacious misrepresentation? Did he not have those before him whose facile tempers and benighted intellects absorbed his glittering oratory as the very light of truth? And so he went on with imperturbable good humor and pleasant way, but with steady purpose, and definite aim to fix the faith of those he and his party were determined still farther to delude and to hold.

But here, we might think, Col. Young somewhat overshot his mark. It might appear that he presumed too far on the docility of his flock; at least if they have the pride that is usually ascribed to manhood. For the boon of liberty, claimed to come from the Republican party, must the negro be thankful to receive the contumely of his particular friends? Does it please him to be told that he is ignorant, and squalid, with tastes and aspirations no higher than the savage state, content to live on a pittance of meat, and a morsel of meal, and live in a cabin where the "dirt-dauber" cannot find comfort, but with his poverty and degradation illumined by the high privilege of voting for white office holders? Verily, even the Democratic party, the alleged enemy of the negro, ascribes higher faculties, higher hopes, and higher aspirations.

In justice to Col, Young as a speaker, we must say that with all his audacious misrepresentation, he is courteous and pleasant, never loses his temper, and while he made no converts, he made no enemies, and only offended the sense of truth.

Captain Davis's speech was one of those efforts, in which solid facts, inexorable logic, and powerful rhetoric combined in solid phalanx to overwhelm the flimsy array of his opponent. There was not an intelligent hearer who did not feel when Mr. Davis spoke that the spear of Ithuriel had touched the hateful shape of falsehood, and erected it into its own repulsive presentment.

What Mr. Davis said was not needed to convince of his sincerity, of his fulness of facts, of his mental powers, of the hold he has upon the affections of our people. And what he said was said in vain to the other side, for obedient to command, as soon as Ike Young had concluded, the dusky politicians vanished like a dark mist, and only gathered again, when the voice of Young was heard in rejoinder.

We do no injustice to Capt Davis by making our comments upon his speech brief. He had no enemy to overthrow, for they fled at his presence and the field was left to him. If Col. Young is afraid that his negro friends would be influenced by argument, then their withdrawal from the ground was a most significant admission of Capt. Davis' superior powers, and the greater excellence of Democratic principles.

LATEST BY MONDAY'S MAIL.

Chamberlain has issued his proclamation ordering the white rifle clubs to disperse, otherwise he will compel them to do so by force, or call on the General Government for help.

This is a desperate move in a desperate cause.

Colorado is reported to Democratic headquarters at New York to have gone Democratic by 500 majority.

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Grant has returned.

Tyner and Morrill were at the White House to-day, but there was no formal cabinet meeting.

Gen. Dix, on account of his age, has declined the place as expert on the monetary commission. The position is to be tendered to Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, of Virginia. In 1852 Hunter made an elaborate report.—He then favored the double standard. It is stated on good authority that the commission stands four to two in favor of double standard.

Charleston, Oct. 7.—The News and Courier's correspondent telegraphed on the 6th. from Columbia that Governor Chamberlain has determined to issue a proclamation to-morrow, or next day, ordering all white militia, state and organizations to surrender their arms, and the latter at once. In case of a refusal he will not only proclaim the State in a condition of domestic violence and inform President Grant to that effect, and call upon him to suppress it.

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS

Which may be done with one-fourth the usual expense, by using our

PATENT SLATE PAINT,

MIXED READY FOR USE.

Fire-Proof. Water-Proof, Durable, Economical and Ornamental.

A ROOF may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this Slate be made to last from 20 to 30 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better, and lasting longer than new shingles without the slate, for

One-Third the Cost of Reshingling.

The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The paint is FIRE-PROOF against sparks or flying embers as may be easily tested by any one.

IT STOPS EVERY LEAK, and for tin or iron has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and never cracks nor scales. Roofs covered with Tar Sheathing Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense, and preserved for many years.

This Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP.

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, while on tin, iron, felt, matched boards, or any smooth surface, from two quarts to one gallon are required to 100 square feet of surface, and although the Paint has a heavy body it is easily applied with a brush.

No Tar is used in this Composition, therefore it neither cracks in Winter, nor runs in Summer.

On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. Curled or Warped shingles it brings to their places, and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in Tin roofs, stops the leaks—and although a slow dryer, rainwater will not affect it a few hours after applying. As nearly all paints that are sold as Slate Paint, be sure you obtain our Genuine Article, which (for color is red) is when first applied, changing in about a month to a uniform slate color, and is for all intents and purposes SLATE. On our red color is usually preferred, as one coat is equal to five of any ordinary paint. For iron our Bright Red is the only cheap Slate Paint ever introduced that will effectually prevent dampness from penetrating and discoloring the plaster.

TIN ROOFS

These paints are also largely used on out-houses and fences, or as a painting and coating for buildings.

Our standard colors are

Chocolate, Red, Bright Red and Orange.

PERSON COUNTY COURT.

We will be present at the Court next week, and hope to meet our friends and subscribers from, Hurdles Mill, Bushy Fork, Longs X Roads, Woodsdale, Leasburg and elsewhere, who, we hope, will be prepared to claim off old scores and maintain our present friendly relations.

Programme For Gov. Vance's Reception

The Tilden and Vance Club have arranged as follows: A cavalcade will meet Gov Vance on Wednesday at Caldwell and conduct him to Hillsboro, in a carriage drawn by four white horses, reaching town about 4 p. m. On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Gov. Vance, in a open carriage, and accompanied by the Salem band, will be escorted through the principal streets thence to the Court House, when the discussion will begin at 11 o'clock.

We do not know what provision will be made for the reception of Mr. Settle. Perhaps his friends will take as good care of him as of Col. Young.

New Schedule.

On Sunday another change of the Mail schedule went into effect. The Mail going East leaves here at 12:22 p. m; going West at 3 p. m.

We will publish schedule in full next week.

Register, REGISTER, REGISTER. Don't fail. Books are open. Don't forget. Old men who have neglected it, young men just come of age, do it. Register, Register. Register.

Most of our summer visitors have left for their homes in the east, the frosts of last week making it safe to do so. We think most of them have been as well pleased that they will return the next season.

We learn that R. M. Jones, one of the Sugar Hill candidates, has been busily examining the records of the county to ascertain the allowances made to sheriffs clerks &c running back a number of years. He will remember that the same books are open to others as well as himself, and may tell tales.

Ike Young entertained his colored brethren on Friday night with a "noration" in the old Academy. The same old story, "If the Democrats succeed you will all be put back into slavery."

Oh! fie, Ike.

James Webb jr & Bro.

We received the new ad. of this firm last week too late to call attention to the very popular and elegant stock of goods now offered by them at prices really less than the shopper in New York and Philadelphia can get them at. Call and see them.

C. M. Parks.

His stock of new goods is the largest and best and the cheapest he has ever brought here. His advertisement is a marvel, for it fills every desire. Goods bought as he bought them cannot be undersold, and all who have seen the display of holiday fabrics are delighted.

John H. Tyler & Co.

The beautiful establishment of the above firm in the city of Richmond is among the first attractions of the city. There is scarcely so elegant a jewelry establishment south of the Potomac. Its costly jewels & works of art are displayed with so much taste to add unqualified delight. The tastes of the firm, so conspicuously displayed in their store rooms, have not been satisfied by the exhibition of things merely of merchandize. They have yearned for some further development of craving for the beautiful, and have found it in the gradual accumulation of paintings, leading at length to the creation of their Art Gallery on the upper floors of their building. This is open free to all, and is a pleasant resort and ought to be seen by every visitor to Richmond.

See ad. of this firm.

A pick-pocket, working in a crowd one dark night, relieved one man of a well-filled envelope that he thought might possibly contain valuable papers. When he came to examine it he found it to be a "Domestic Paper Fashion."

St. James Hotel, Richmond.

This is, emphatically the home of the North Carolinian in Richmond and is felt as such by the many who share its hospitalities. It is the most conveniently situated house in the city, and with its reduced rates and superb fare ought never to be passed by by our North Carolina friends. We recommend it heartily.

Several changes in names of Inspectors and Registrars in some of the townships have been made. See notice.

Mr. C. C. Taylor is Registrar.

HON. GEO DAVIS.

On Saturday last by invitation of the Vance and Tilden Club of Hillsboro, the Hon. George Davis of Wilmington addressed a large audience of the citizens of the town and surrounding country. The auditors comprised men of both colors, and for the first time in the history of the campaign here, many ladies were present to grace by their presence the intellectual contest and temper by their influence the ardor of the combatants. For Mr. Davis was not to be the only speaker, the Congressional candidates being engaged to take part in the tourney.

Mr. Davis was introduced by H. K. Nash Esq in one of those eloquent and elegant addresses which might in themselves fill the utmost requirements of the hearer, and which always leave the feeling of regret that Mr. Nash was not oftener appealed to embark in the cause with his vigorous powers and magnificent eloquence.

And then Mr. Davis spoke. Of his speech, we are full now. His hearers are full. We have it in the naked frame works of copious notes before us. But to fill up to those notes, to cover in that frame work, to re-endow them with vitality, to breathe into them life and energy, to supply the fire, to lend the grace, to give the suppleness of movement, to re-create and reproduce the living embodiment of eloquence, to renew impressions in their life-like form, there is needed the Promethean spirit of the speaker himself. It were profanation to subject these to a spell less potent than his own and we forbear more than cursory comments upon the tone and temper of the speech.

It is agreed by common consent, and that without disparagement to other gentlemen who have spoken here that no such a speech has been heard here, for many a long year. Others have spoken well and eloquently, but on grounds somewhat circumscribed. Mr. Davis took a wider range, or rather he gave himself a wider latitude, and in doing so enabled himself to bring into view the varied stores of a capacious intellect, the full resources of a cultivated mind, the rich treasures of an elegant taste, the ripe humor of a lively wit, the fierce sarcasm of the honest soul, and the tender pathos of the loving heart.

And with these by turns he laid open vast funds of information, delighted by the fullness and beauty of his illustrations, moved to laughter by the sprightliness of his sallies, stirred to anger by the fierceness of his satire, or melted to tears by the impassioned appeal, or sacred reminiscence. He was master of his audience whether in his control of their intellects or their feelings. This too, with a manner so natural and unaffected that the hearer felt he had one before him who spoke well because he was full of his subject, and who interested and fascinated because nature had infused into him that happy faculty of displaying the emotions by a mobility of feature and limb without betraying that art had any share in the perfection.

It was a speech complete in its proportions; so perfect that it might seem that the good Genii who preside over the divine art of oratory had pressed forward with their gifts and loaded the fortunate orator with all their treasures to subdue his hearers to his will. The wisdom of Marshall, the learning of Story, the brilliancy of Wirt, the eloquence of Chatham the invective of Curran, the wit of Sheridan, the humor of Thackeray, the pathos of Hood, with the histrionic powers of Garrick, realized to our conceptions an ideal so complete that imagination in vain might strain its powers to add another touch to the creation.

We leave it to our readers who were hearers, to recal, from our suggestions, the various impressions made upon their minds and their hearts by this speech of speeches and to re-create for themselves that glorious picture which must live painted vividly in each memory. That must be individual work of each one. We might supply the outlines. None but the master hand of the living orator can fill up the picture and apply the coloring.

A Grange Repast.

The Orange County Grange met here in council on Thursday last. After their deliberations, they repaired to the Court House, where they partook of a delightful repast, of which we were a happy participant. It was spread in the rooms of the Sheriff and it is probably the first time in the history of that room that the innocent ring of female laughter was ever heard therein. An odor of sanctity has been shed over the room which we hope the sheriff will mercifully remember amid the stern exactions of his duty.

REGISTER, REGISTER, REGISTER.

The times are out of joint for small games. Personal preferences or antagonism, at the cost of the general safety, cannot be indulged. This community can ill afford to countenance those who would ignore political affiliation; or play the self-complacent role of independence.

The above sensible remarks from the Charleston Journal of Commerce have a direct application to matters and persons here right at home. "Personal preferences or antagonism, at the cost of the general safety cannot be indulged." Yet there is one who "ignores political affiliations, and plays the self complacent role of independence," one who in times past was the most furious denouncer of independence. To all who dared to waver in the slightest under the lash of party discipline was applied the degrading name of "Brindletail." Who is the Brindletail now? Careful as Josiah Turner is, to disclaim to public the fact that he is a candidate, it is scarcely to be concealed that he is an aspirant for Senatorial honors. Otherwise it would scarcely be reasonable that his chances of success against the regular nominee of the Democratic party, Major John W. Graham should be so actively canvassed among the people through the county; otherwise, it would not be that we hear every day that Mr. so and so will not vote for Mr. Graham, and that a majority of men in a certain township will go for Mr. Turner under any and all circumstances.

Certain it is that unusual activity prevails among the friends of the latter gentleman; certain it is that hand bills and circulars in his behalf are freely distributed throughout the district. Certain it is that Mr. Turner himself has been in the county of Person, filling appointments to speak. It can hardly deceive any one that he should interest himself so seriously at the present in a quixotic tilt against rings and thieves and frauds in his own party. These are not the questions of the hour. They interest no one. They have no application to this campaign, and the use of such subjects is felt to be a subterfuge, a pretext to cover up other and more serious designs.

The hostility of Mr. Turner to Major Graham that gentlemen is at no pains to conceal. He avows his purpose to beat him and we know the efforts he is making, public and private to that end. How can he better accomplish this than by being a candidate himself? But if he is a candidate, it must be with reliance upon the radical vote, and that alone to elect him.

And that, it is asserted, is promised him and that W. W. Holden and Ike Young have at length consented that Josiah Turner jr shall be the standard bearer of the Republican party in the Orange Senatorial District. Only as such standard bearer can Mr. Turner hope to defeat Major Graham, and with such hopes and with such alliance the self constituted champion of the conservatives against the infamies of radicalism passes away from the companionship of old friends into the ranks of his former foes.

Alas! poor human nature.

We hope Col. Young was gratified by his first greeting on his reaching Hillsboro on Friday afternoon. He was met by Lewis Jenkins, Lewis Cain, Currie Chavers, all colored, the whites discreetly waiving their claims to recognizing their champion until the colored brethren had been allowed the honors (all they get) of showing their consequence.

An Impudent Pretension.

On Friday morning the day before the address of the Hon. Geo. Davis before the Vance and Tilden Club, application was made by Ike Strayhorn on behalf of his party for a sharing of time with Mr. Davis. This, the President of the Club, J. C. Webb, and ourselves as Secretary, declined upon the very plain ground that Mr. Davis was an invited guest of the Club, and we had no right to impose upon him the offence of a discussion with Tom, Dick or Harry,—any one that Mr. Strayhorn might choose to produce, whether it were Dick Badger, Lewis Jenkins, or Mr. Strayhorn himself. We could not bring Mr. Strayhorn to an admission of the name of the disputant he wished to produce. All we could extract from him was that his party claimed a right to have as many speakers as the other, and this on the ground that this was the day appointed for the discussion between Capt. Davis and Col. Young.

As to this, it is only necessary to state that the invitation to Mr. Davis was made and accepted before the appointments of Messrs. Davis and Young were known to the President of the Club. The News was Mr. Webb's authority for knowledge of the appointments, for Hillsboro was omitted, accidentally we suppose for a few days.

We say this much, because we know Mr. Strayhorn's application was made to make capital of, and with no serious purpose of producing a respondent to Mr. Geo Davis.

THE AMERICAN FARMER

for October is full, as usual, of varied and useful matters suited to every farmer desirous of improvement in his profession. This old agricultural journal treats exclusively on farm and garden topics, and is not given up to subjects not connected directly with rural life, all the branches of which are thoroughly cared for.

No farmer, of any scale however large or small, but would find it to his interest to subscribe for and read this standard periodical. the subscription of which is $1.50 a year, or only $1 each to clubs of five or more. The publishers, Sam'l Sands & Son, Baltimore, offer to send all new subscribers, whether coming singly or in clubs, the last three numbers of this year free.

Mr. D. McNEILL. Shoe-Heel P. O; Robeson Co; N. C; is corresponding editor and agent for the Farmer for North and South Carolina.

A RICH SCENE AT SMITHFIELD.

After Vance and Settle got through at Smithfield last Tuesday Mr. Jarvis took the stand and told the crowd he didn't expect to make a speech, but to-day only wanted to inquire into the charges made against Major Smith that he hunted deserters with dogs during the war. He had made the charge on hearsay and if the statement was true the people of North Carolina should know it, and untrue, it should be corrected in justice to Major Smith. The major was on the stand and triumphantly exclaimed, 'There is no man in Johnston county who will face me and charge me with having run men with dogs.'

Jarvis replied: 'Yes, in the west Mr. Smith has denied the charge and stated he would give the man five hundred dollars in gold who would face him and say he had run him with dogs, and now if such a man be present let him come forward and claim his five hundred dollars.'

About that time Zoe LeMay sang out, 'Clear the track boys; here comes the man!'

The crowd made way and an old chap, J. H. Morgan of Meadow township, straggled through and they raised him on the stand and sat him on top of a table. The old man raised his specs and eyeing Smith like looking into a horse's mouth he spoke through his nose and said: 'Major, don't you re-ko-lect when I was home on furlough you put your dogs arter me an' run me home in my own house?' The crowd yelled at this and there was general bedlam below. An old coon's voice was heard ringing above the din, 'Yes, an' I b'longed to his home guard comp'ny an' he put a boss bridle on me an' a bit in my mouth an' made me play hoss to tame me!'

Smith here consulted with Jarvis and for fear of a row on the ground between their friends both gentlemen left the stand.

The above facts are given us told us by an eye witness.—Raleigh Sentinel.

London, Oct. 6.—A Reuters telegram from Belgrade yesterday, says that it is expected now that Russia will present ultimatums to be followed by a declaration of war.

"FIRST IN WAR, FIRST IN PEACE."

And first in the hearts of the thousands who were once the victims of disordered liver and its attendant maladies. Such as Constipation, Bilious Fevers, Colic, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Chills, Rheumatism, Gout, Jaudice, Restlessness, Loss of Appetite and General Debility. 'First Tutt's Pills and then health and happiness,' is their motto. This is the result of American progress in science. CAN WE AFFORD TO CARRY ON FARMING WITHOUT STOCK?

[For the Farmer's Journal.]

I am convinced after three years experience in North Carolina, that we cannot raise good crops without barnyard manure, and in order to obtain that we must keep stock. Remember the old adage, no stock no manure, and no manure no crops, how then if we wish to succeed in bringing our land into a good state of fertilization, and make good paying crops; we must lose no time in getting it well stocked with cows, hogs and sheep, not forgetting to stable and yard all stock as much as possible at night, and in all stormy and cold days through the winter; this will add to the health and thrift of the stock, and greatly assist you in building your compost heap which should be made broad and tall, try if is possible, to get one cartload more in than your crops need. By doing so it will save you the annoyance of sending off to the patent Fertilizer Agent the few dollars you so much need for better purposes. You will, I have do doubt, find many ready to argue that stock does not pay for raising, but with such people I beg to differ, that is if the right kind of stock is kept, especially and hogs are very profitable Farmers consider at the north if pork is worth $6 per cwt; by the carcass, it pays more than selling their corn and peas at 60 cents per bushel. I have sold many tons of pork as low as $3,50 per cwt; the average price for years only from $4 to $5 per cwt; now then, I contend that I can fatten hogs here as cheap as I could at the north, but recollect I am not going in for the landpike and crocodile breed of hogs; I mean good hogs of the Berkshire or Essex breed, or what is better, a cross between the two, either of the latter will fatten with half the feed the former will and make more pork at the same age. Now then, I say, farmers raise your own provisions, especially flour and pork and everything consumed in your family. It can be raised on your farm, and do not say it will not pay. For my part, I cannot see the propriety of sending a few bales of cotton to Baltimore, New York or elsewhere, and as soon as you receive the money send it straight back for a little pork and flour; you must see that you are cut down on your cotton below the actual cost of raising, but they do not forget to lay it on, on the pork and flour you get from them. Now then, brother farmers and grangers is it not time to alter our course, I think it is. Let us reason the matter together, and if we cannot make anything out of raising cotton and tobacco let us try something else. I thing there is nothing more profitable on a plantation than a good flock of sheep. You can buy decent common ewes for $2,50 per head by proper management they will double the number. In one year the lambs, if early, will sell for about the same price that you paid for the ewes, which fetches your money back, and the clip of the wool to boot. Now then suppose you lay out $125 for fifty good common ewes, cross them with a good bred ram, the lambs will if all the ewes have lambs and raise them, be worth the price paid for the ewes $125, fifty fleeces from good common ewes should average $1.00 per fleece. Here you see by laying out $150 you get $175 back, and your flock of 50 ewes clear. I think I have been within bounds; we sheared from our imported lambs over ten pounds per fleece of good clean wool. I have no doubt that many of your readers will be very ready to ask you how and where is the feed to come from to feed stock. There can be any amount of feed raised for all kinds of stock if farmers will only raise it; for instance, our land is well adapted to raising peas which if harvested in good condition, the vines are very nutritious and I think equal to good hay for almost any stock, and a few acres with our mild winters would carry through a very large stock, that is if all pea vines grow as mine have done this season. Again, for horn stock there are thousands of tons of corn-stalk wasted annually which instead of standing in the fields to waste should be cured, cut up and fed to cattle as all stock raisers do at the north, and other corn growing countries. I have cut and fed my stalk as usual and with the same result. The stalk contains double the nutriment that the leaf does on dairy farms, at the north cows in the winter are fed mostly on corn-stalks and do bet than on good hay. Cut your stalks and feed them to your cattle and turn them into manure. Try it. G. Smerdon,

Lecturer Beaver Grange.

Henderson, N. C;

An Arkansas judge of the old times who had an office in common with a physician, was at his table, busy with briefs and bill in chancery The doctor who was writing a letter, pausing for a moment called out: 'Judge, isn't e q u i- the way to spell equinomical?' 'Yes, I think it is,' said the judge; 'but here's Webster's dictionary.—I can soon tell you.' He opened the book and turned over the leaves, repeating aloud 'E quinomical,' Finding the proper place, he ran his eye and finger up and down the column two or three times, until he was thoroughly satisfied the word was not there. Closing the book with a slam, the judge laid his spectacles on the table and rising slowly, broke forth: 'Well, sir, I've always been a Daniel Webster man, and I voted for him for President; but any person that will write as big a dictionary as that, and not put as common a word as equi nom'cal in it, can't get my vote again not once.'

An old Baptist minister enforced the necessity of differences of opinion by argument: 'Now, if everybody had been of my opinion, they would all have wanted my old woman.' One of the deacons, who sat just behind him, responded. 'Yes, and if everybody was of my opinion, nobody would have her.'

Said a lady to her husband, 'My dear, what is cotton duck?' 'Oh,' said he carelessly, 'a kind of canvas back.'

The North Carolina Farmer

J. H. Enniss,

Dear Sir—I have been a practical Farmer for 40 years, and during that time have taken the best Agricultural Journals of the day, and I undertake to say that there is more valuable practical information to our farmers, in the first and second numbers of the North Carolina Farmer than in any dozen copies of the Agricultural papers I have taken and I do most earnestly recommend it to every Farmer in our State as the paper for him above all others.
